- Doom finds his consciousness inside the body of someone with no power, no standing and without anything beyond what this poor orphaned boy can scrounge on his own...
- ...which is to say, Doom finds his consciousness within his CHILDHOOD SELF.
- But now, with the knowledge of what is to come, Doom has a chance to do things differently — and BETTER. He can make different choices — win different battles. Rather than travel an ocean to study — in America, where he would meet his hated rival, Reed Richards, and become disfigured...
- ...he can stay in his home country, with his first and only love: a beautiful and clever young Latverian woman named Valeria.
- It's a journey to the center of Victor Von Doom himself as he discovers how wildly differently his life could've gone...and the price he must pay to keep such victories!
